

From Start to Finish

Kamia Slaughter

Loachapoka High School, 8th Grade

Standing before the finish line of my life
Directly behind the podium of pure strife
What I did became what had to be done
And what was done showed that I had won

Starting at the age of five
I knew not to sink but rather dive
Reaching was never enough
But grasping showed a girl was tough

A decade passed and I was stronger than ever
Nothing on this earth I couldn't endeavor
Strong-minded with an urge to defend
A career in law helped my thoughts make amends

Ranged from Princeton to Yale, I chose Harvard Law
To achieve and excel and leave everyone in awe
Graduating as a well known scholar
I earned many thousands instead of asking for dollars

My journey started as any other would
But ended in success because I applied all I could
That's why what I did became what had to be done
And what was done showed that I had won