

You May Have Received Your Last Print Copy of The Career Development Quarterly

Beginning with the September 2012 issue, you will receive only electronic access to The Career Development Quarterly (CDQ) through the Wiley Online Library, unless you have informed ACA (by responding to our electronic surveys, mail, or phone campaigns during the past year) that you prefer to continue to receive print copies of the journal.

Check out the enhanced membership benefit that your electronic access provides today!

Simply log into the ACA website at www.counseling.org, click on the Publications page and then “Electronic Journal Access” on the left-hand side menu, which will link to CDQ in the Wiley Online Library. Note. You must log into the ACA website each time you wish to access full text of the journal. NCDA-only members must access the journal through the NCDA website at www.ncda.org. Go to My NCDA on the purple toolbar, far right side and log in, and then click on “Online Journal” in the right hand column to access the archive.

Once you are logged in, create an e-mail alert to make sure you are notified when each new issue is published by selecting “Get New Content Alerts” from Journal Tools on the top of the left-hand side menu.
