Introduction to the NCDA Credentialing Commission

Mission

To serve the general public and the career services community by using NCDA standards and ethics for defining roles in the field of career services and recognizing those who demonstrate and maintain a high level of professional competency.

Vision

Committed to providing global leadership in competency-based credentialing for career professionals.

Brief History

In August, 2017, NCDA joined other trade associations that uphold standards for their own professions by credentialing people who have the skills to fill specific roles within their field. The NCDA Board of Trustees set up and funded the NCDA Credentialing Commission in 2017. The Commission was charged with making recommendations for implementing credentialing programs for a variety of roles in the career field.

The Commission researched and thoroughly discussed credentialing in its process of creating the initial group of credentials. The Commission has worked in the direction of high standards and streamlined procedures. The word “Credential” was chosen as an umbrella term used for the many types of programs, including licensure, certification, accreditation, recognition designation, and certificates.

The Commission has established six credentials. All these credentials begin with the word “Certified.” All of the credentials contain an assessment component which is scored by “blind reviewers” – experienced professionals who already have the credential and have been trained to score case studies and/or work samples. All credentials are competency-based, requiring the applicant to demonstrate skill and competency in the career development field.

Applications for all of these credentials are completed online, using any available computer. Like all credentials in our field, we DO require continuing education for renewals. Record your continuing education in the Credential Holder Continuing Education Log. NCDA members can login on the NCDA web site to see their NCDA events documented.

View the NCDA Credentialing FAQs webpage for more history and details.
About Continuing Education & Processes

Why is Continuing Education Important?

Continuing Education develops your skills, keeps you current in your field, and allows you to deliver quality services.

As an NCDA credential holder, you will be responsible for recording your continuing education on the Credential Holder Continuing Education Log document. Record the activities that you attend for recertification of your NCDA Credential. The activities must occur within the three-year certification cycle at renewal of your credential. You must obtain 30 contact hours during each three-year cycle. Any course or activity offered by an NCDA approved provider, or state licensure-approved provider that addresses one or more of your credential competency areas is acceptable. You will need to keep this form updated regularly in case you are randomly selected for an audit at your credential renewal time. You must maintain proper documentation in your files (hard copies or scanned copies of certificates, agendas, letters, etc.) in the event of an audit of CE contact hours.

As an NCDA member, your CE contact hours at NCDA-sponsored events will be documented for you and available when you log-in to your NCDA member account.

Annually the NCDA Credentialing Commission will review and recommend approved continuing education offerings.

Guidelines for Continuing Education

All of NCDA Credentials require continuing education. The required 30 contact hours every 3 years must meet the NCDA’s Credentialing Commission’s requirements regarding competency area and activity type, as described below. A contact hour is defined as an hour (60 minutes) spent in learning, development, or delivery in a credential competency area.

You must participate in continuing education activities approved by the NCDA Credentialing Commission. To decide if an activity qualifies, you must be able to answer “yes” to each question if an activity meets continuing education for a credential.

1. Does the content of the activity fall into one or more of the competencies defining the credential? Check your credential webpage for specific competencies.
2. Am I able to interact with the instructor or facilitator during or after the session (ie: chat session)?
3. Is the activity intended for professionals in the career development field?
4. Will the activity be completed during my credentialing period?
5. Does the instructor/facilitator have formal education, expertise, or credentialing in the relevant credential competency areas? For example, if you are attending a session on career counseling interventions, does the instructor have the Certified...
Career Counselor credential, or something similar (state license) along with at least a master's degree?

Approved Methods of Obtaining Continuing Education Contact Hours

Unless otherwise noted, requirements apply to both remote learning and in-person activities. A peer is defined as an individual who works in the same field or occupation and has approximately the same overall level of expertise, training, education or relevant experience as you. See chart on next several pages for descriptions.

• Trade shows.

Credential Maintenance

Annual Maintenance Fee

Credential holders desiring to keep their credential must pay an annual maintenance fee ($40) and complete credential renewal at the end of three years.

Credential Renewal and Potential Audit

Process for Credential Renewal and Potential Audit

1. Record your continuing education on the Credential Holder Continuing Education Log. NCDA members can login on the NCDA web site to see their NCDA events documented.

2. You may log hours at any time as long as the full 30 contact hours are logged prior to your renewal date (3 years after receiving your credential).

3. The NCDA Credential Commission randomly audits 10% of credential holder accounts of each credential due for renewal.

4. If you are selected for an audit, you will receive notification with your $40 invoice for credential renewal that is sent approximately 4 weeks prior to your due date.
5. If you are selected to be audited, your hours will either be considered Acceptable or Unacceptable:

Ethics Adherence

As an NCDA Credential holder, you must adhere to the NCDA’s Code of Ethics at all times. https://ncda.org/aws/NCDA/asset_manager/get_file/3395

- You must attest to your adherence to this Code of Ethics by your signature on your renewal notice.
- This renewal notice also contains a reminder for you to provide written disclosures to the NCDA Credential Commission in the event that you become the subject of a legal, criminal, or disciplinary matter. You must submit these written disclosures to the NCDA Credential Commission within 60 days of becoming aware of the charge or complaint. The NCDA Credential Commission will pass all ethics submissions to the NCDA Ethics Committee. The Ethics Committee will make recommendations to the NCDA Credentialing Commission, who, in turn, will then make a final recommendation to the NCDA Board of Directors. The NCDA Board of Directors will determine final action as necessary which may, or may not, result in the loss of a credential.

Ethics Questions
For questions relating to ethics, please email NCDA Ethics Committee ethics@ncda.org.
