

CUSTOMIZED AND FACULTY-LED PROGRAMS

In Lima – “City of Kings”
In Cusco – “Capital of the Inca Empire”

Universidad San Ignacio de Loyola (USIL) has designed several faculty-led programs for international universities and colleges from all over the world. These custom designed USIL programs have included workshops, fieldtrips, visits to museums or companies, volunteer work as social responsibility activities or service-learning placements, cooking classes, and more. Universities and colleges get to choose their own terms and content for their programs.

The program may last 3 to 5 weeks or longer and can be held either in Lima, on the main campus, or in Cusco, the city of the Incas, at the USIL International Extension Center. Many universities and colleges include Spanish classes and an unforgettable visit to Machu Picchu.

SEMESTER IN CUSCO AND SUMMER IN CUSCO

PROGRAM

Universidad San Ignacio de Loyola (USIL) is one of the few universities in Peru with an international program at the university level. USIL has a customized program held in Cusco, the Inca city, with a cultural focus and Spanish classes. The program is intended to offer students a broad knowledge of the culture and history of the region that is home to South America's best-known landmark: The inca ruins of Machu Picchu, one of the New Seven Wonders of the World. International students will be able to transfer USIL course credits and have an amazing experience in this unforgettable South American city.

HOUSING

Universidad San Ignacio de Loyola (USIL) welcomes its students at its residence, Casa Don Ignacio, which has fully equipped Wi-Fi, a computer room, a kitchen, a TV room, a library, and more.

BENEFITS (USIL offers university credits)

International students may enroll for our regular semesters, which last 5 months, or our summer program, which lasts 5 to 6 weeks. This is a wonderful opportunity to study and live in the most important landmark city in South America and visit one of the New Seven Wonders of the World: Machu Picchu.

SEMESTER IN CUSCO & SUMMER IN CUSCO COURSE DESCRIPTION

INCA ARCHITECTURE

This amazing course develops student knowledge of, as well as their interest in, the concepts, techniques and architectonic and urban management of Andean society represented by the Inca Culture. Taught in English. 3 credits

ART AND DESIGN IN CUSCO

The course focuses on a critical analysis of the history of Cusco's art from a visual perspective, thus creating new spaces for reflection. Artistic expressions from the different periods of its cultural development are studied and interpreted. Taught in English. 3 credits

SPANISH (Basic, Pre-Intermediate, Intermediate, and Advanced)

This course enables students to develop communication skills in order to express ideas and understand everyday needs. What a great opportunity to speak Spanish in a real context! All levels: 4 credits

HISTORY OF THE INCA CIVILIZATION

This course provides knowledge and information on prehistoric civilizations of the Central Andean Region, with critical and updated opinions on the historical periods covered and the great Inca civilization. Benefit from studying the Inca culture at the capital city of the Inca Empire and further enrich your studies. Visit ruins in and around the city, as well as Machu Picchu, one of the New Seven Wonders of the World, to gain a better understanding of what you are being taught. Taught in English. 3 credits

CONTEMPORARY SOCIETY AND CULTURE OF PERU

Peruvian society has undergone a series of historical transformations enriched by Andean, Western, and Amazonian traditions. These transformations will be addressed from a historical, anthropological, and sociological perspective. Cusco is the best meeting point to discover and understand the changes the country is undergoing. Taught in English. 3 credits

BIODIVERSITY OF PERU

Because Peru has mega biodiversity which places it among the top 12 biodiverse countries in the world, this theoretical course will mainly focus on developing skills to analyze and value the components of biodiversity, identifying its potential and acquiring the tools to make its sustainable use and conservation possible. Take time to visit the National Reserve of Manu to see what your teacher means by biodiversity! Taught in English. 3 credits

LATIN AMERICAN LITERATURE

This theoretical/practical course develops students' skills for critical reading of and value Latin American literature, through detailed analysis of poetry and novels. This course is geared toward students who have an advanced level of Spanish. Enjoy reading the best Latin American novels and authors, and improve your Spanish by reading the most interesting stories in our language. Taught in Spanish. 3 credits

PHOTOGRAPHY

While in Cusco, you will surely take hundreds of photographs. In order to take the best shots, students will learn about the photographic production process, including the study of visual treatment, lighting and mastery of digital photography. Taught in English. 3 credits

BUSINESS IN PERU AND LATIN AMERICA

Peru has become one of the strongest economies in Latin America; this course will enable students to understand the economic context of investing, trading, exporting, etc. in Peru and in our continent. Topics related to economics, marketing, trade opportunities, and free trade agreements will be of great interest for every student. Taught in English. 4 credits

QUECHUA

Learn the language of the Inca Empire. This 15th century language is still spoken in Peru and indigenous people from Cusco use it daily. Learning Quechua will allow you to feel closer to the people and appreciate their millinery culture expressed through this language. 4 credits

SEMESTER IN LIMA

Universidad San Ignacio de Loyola (USIL) works with more than 130 universities through exchange programs, work/study programs, and international programs in Peru, etc. We have 26 academic programs which are taught on our Lima Campus. Because full command of a second language is a must, USIL students are able to choose between courses in Spanish and English (double curriculum). Students may enroll in any course from our 26 academic programs.

HOUSING

For those looking for accommodations USIL offers its student residence, La Casa Don Ignacio (www.casadedonignacio.com), which is conveniently located and has all the facilities international students need, such as Wi-Fi and laundry.

BENEFITS

International students have the opportunity to get to know local students, improve their language skills, and learn about the culture. Classes may be taken in Spanish or English, from March through July and from August through December.
